Gulf Area Exodus

100,000 Flee Hurricane Betsy's Path

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Thousands of refugees streamed inland today from Louisiana's exposed coastal areas as Hurricane Betsy, fresh from an attack on Florida, churned relentlessly closer.

The vanguard of 100,000 residents of southern Louisiana and eastern Texas packed cars and trailers and headed north — away from possible killer tides and 140 mile an hour winds.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau urged them to evacuate quickly before rising tides cut off escape by land.

At 10 a.m., Betsy was 185 miles south, southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River and moving west northwest through the Gulf of Mexico at 18 miles an hour.

"Betsy is expected to continue moving about 18 miles per hour and turn to a northwesterly course today," a Weather Bureau advisor said. "Not much change in size or intensity is indicated."

The bureau pinpointed the eye of the giant storm at 10 a.m. near 26.8 latitude, 87.8 longitude.

An emergency Civil Defense center began operating at Baton Rouge, its purpose to coordinate evacuation and emergency work.

Evacuation of Cameron Parish—where 500 persons died in a 1957 hurricane—began at 9:30 a.m. Officials there said all residents would be gone by late afternoon.

Cattle from the marsh areas were being hauled out by truck. Black and red hurricane warning flags were flying from the mouth of the Mississippi River west to Galveston, Tex.

However, Betsy's exact target remained uncertain. The storm—described as fast moving, big and dangerous — has proved itself unpredictable.

Heavy Engagements On Pakistan Fronts

India Claims 75 Tanks Destroyed In a Battle

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian and Pakistani troops fought heavy engagements on two new fronts in northern and southern Pakistan today. India claimed 75 Pakistani tanks—all American made—were destroyed in a 24-hour period.

In Rawalpindi, a Pakistani spokesman claimed both drives were stopped cold. But India said its forces were advancing on both fronts, in the Sialkot sector in the north and in the Gatra area 600 miles to the south, in southeast Pakistan where it launched invasions Wednesday.

Sharp Dip In County Jobless Pay

Unemployment insurance benefits paid through the Sedalia office of the Division of Employment Security were down sharply for August and payments for the month were the lowest since the fall of 1963.

Benefits paid totaled $22,926.94, according to office manager Russell Carr, compared to $46,001.32 for August, 1964, and $46,904.53 for the previous month of July. The payments total was the lowest since September, 1963, when they amounted to $21,896.10, Carr said.

Last month the local office filed 234 applications for work, received 220 openings and placed 224 applicants on the job. Carr credited the increase in job openings and placements to increased production in manufacturing, the transportation industry and the Missouri State Fair.

After four straight months of decline, statewide unemployment insurance benefit payments to out-of-work Missourians increased in August, the Missouri Division of Employment Security reported.

Herman Julien, division director, said the state's jobless received $1,794,348 during August, $47,682 more than the $1,746,666 paid in July. Although the monthly benefit total increased 2.7 per cent from July, the August amount this year was 25.2 per cent, or $602,926, less than was paid in August a year ago.

Initial claims, often an index to new unemployment, numbered 24,310 in August this year as compared to 29,837 a year ago, a decrease of 5,527 but an increase of 3,428 from July this year. Total claims, numbering 105,364, are 26,806 less than a year ago but are up 9,825 from July this year.

The 57,367 man weeks of unemployment compensated in August were 18,563 less than a year ago and down 184 from July this year.

Study Greek Crisis

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A plan to solve Greece's political crisis by holding elections under an interim rightist government has collapsed and King Constantine now may seek a coalition.

It was understood the toughest fighting was in the border regions of the north near the West Pakistan city of Kasur and India's city of Ferozepore in Punjab.

As the fighting raged, Premier Chou En-lai of Red China loosed another blast at India and said its "massive armed attack on Pakistan" could not have been carried out without U.S. consent and support.

In a speech at a reception in Peking at the North Korean Embassy, Chou stopped short of saying Red China would provide concrete assistance to Pakistan. But he reiterated firm support of the Pakistanis.

Officials in Washington and London were concerned lest Red China take a hand in behalf of Pakistan by starting new trouble on India's border.

There were these other diplomatic developments:

— U. N. Secretary-General U Thant arrived in Rawalpindi, the Pakistan capital, on his mission to seek a cease-fire. He said the situation was serious.

—Premier Amir Abass Hoveida of Iran flew into Turkey to consult with Turkish officials on Pakistan's appeal to them for military help. All three nations are members of the Central Treaty Organization, an anti-Communist alliance with which the United States is associated.

An Indian communique, reporting the claim that 114 Pakistani tanks had been destroyed since Sept. 1, spoke in general terms of the battles.

Marine 'Too Young To Die' Is Killed Following Protest

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I am only 23-years-old and one hell of a lot too young to die for the likes of people who condemn those who try to keep their country and their way of life safe."

This was part of a letter written by a young Marine in Okinawa, published in the Philadelphia Bulletin last Easter Sunday. The Marine, Pfc. Frank Heniss, complained bitterly about demonstrations in the U.S. against the government's intervention in Viet Nam.

Wednesday, the Defense Department notified Heniss' wife, Elaine May, 23, that her husband had been killed in action against the Viet Cong.

Students Reminded To Confine Smoking To Approved Areas

Smith-Cotton High School students, in their first week of this year's term, have been reminded that smoking on school property is restricted to the school cafeteria.

Dr. Bruce Riddle, school principal, said he made the announcement in a daily bulletin after students were observed smoking in areas where it is forbidden. Some students were seen smoking on steps outside the school, Riddle said.

School policy permits smoking in the cafeteria as a means of control, but earlier this year the Board of Education received complaints that students were smoking in other school areas and the Sedalia PTA Council's juvenile protection committee has advocated a complete ban of on-campus smoking.

Stricter enforcement of the limited area smoking was pledged by the board and school administration.

Viet Troops To See 'Hello Dolly' Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — American troops in South Viet Nam will see what the Soviet government wouldn't let the Russians see — the Mary Martin company's performance of "Hello, Dolly!"

Producer David Merrick accepted an invitation from President Johnson to take the show to Saigon from Tokyo, where the cast is now, the White House announced Wednesday.

See Red China Intervention Possibility

Pakistan Support In War With India Not Ruled Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials take seriously the possibility that Communist China may intervene in the India-Pakistan war to the extent of stirring up border trouble on India's northeast frontier.

The Chinese purpose, it is believed here, would be to demonstrate support for Pakistan and thus encourage that country to break its alliances with the United States and other Western powers and move into the Red Chinese orbit.

Pakistan is a member of the U.S.-backed Central Treaty Organization alliance in the Middle East and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Pakistan's chief allies, the United States and Britain, are, like the Soviet Union, pursuing middle-of-the-road policies in the India-Pakistan conflict and concentrating their efforts on trying to get a cease-fire.

China already has come out squarely on Pakistan's side and its public declarations in recent days have developed an increasingly tougher tone toward India.

On Aug. 27 the Chinese Reds issued a long series of charges of border violations by Indian troops on the Chinese frontier. Two days ago China accused India of aggression against Pakistan and declared it was strengthening its own China-India border defenses.

Wednesday the Chinese released a note to the Indian government charging four Indian boundary violations in July and five in August and linking them

Viet War Nearer Red China

US Planes Bomb Bridge 17 Miles From China Border

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. military spokesmen announced today that American warplanes bombed a bridge 17 miles south of Red China's border with North Viet Nam. It was their closest penetration toward the Chinese frontier in the Vietnamese war.

The spokesmen said four F105 Thunderchiefs damaged the railroad bridge in the raid Wednesday and pounded two other bridges 25 and 30 miles south of the border.

The area, about 140 miles northwest of Hanoi, is an important transportation center leading to the North Vietnamese capital. U.S. pilots are trying to disrupt a railroad in the area and last month bombed within 30 miles of Red China twice.

In the ground war, U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops continued their giant sweep to clear the Viet Cong from the Batangan peninsula.

Reports from the three-day-old operation 20 miles south of Chu Lai said 148 Viet Cong had been killed, 38 captured and 100 suspects detained.

Democrats to Name Senate Candidate At Monday Meeting

A meeting of county Democratic committee chairmen in the 16th Senatorial District has been called for 2 p.m. Monday at Carrollton to name a candidate for the vacant Missouri Senate seat.

The meeting was called by State Democratic party chairman Delton Houchen.

Houchen said he called the meeting because a chairman of the senatorial committee had not been elected. He said the committee will meet in the courthouse at Carrollton and will elect a chairman and proceed to nominate the party's candidate.

The Republican party Wednesday chose a Chillicothe attorney, 44-year-old Ronald Lee Sommerville, as their candidate.

Pettis County Republicans were not represented at the meeting of the GOP county chairmen, the Democrat-Capital learned today. Miss Hazel Palmer, Sedalia attorney who is chairman of the Pettis County GOP committee, said neither she nor vice-chairman Paul Steinkuhler, LaMonte, were able to attend.

The senate vacancy was created when Sen. Jack Jones of Carrollton resigned to become a federal bankruptcy referee.

A special election has been called for Oct. 5 by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes. The 16th district is composed of Pettis, Lafayette, Carroll, Ray, Saline, Caldwell, Davies and Livingston counties.

Tear Gas Use In Viet Nam Under Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is standing aloof from the latest incident involving use of nonlethal gas in Viet Nam until an investigation ordered by the American high command there is completed.

It is probable that whatever Gen. William C. Westmoreland's command decides will be accepted by the Pentagon.

A U.S. military spokesman in Viet Nam announced that on Sunday a Marine unit had used tear gas to drive people out of tunnels and caverns suspected as hiding places for Viet Cong.

A battalion commander, said the spokesman, had decided the tear gas was the most harmless method of clearing the hiding places without causing injury to women and children in those shelters. He said the unit commander may not have been aware of a directive regulating use of tear gas.

In answer to questions, a defense spokesman here said today that the policy concerning the use of tear and other non-lethal gases was set by Westmoreland, not the Pentagon.

The Communists were quick to leap on this most recent incident. A North Vietnamese radio broadcast Wednesday said that the Hanoi government had sent a protest to the International Control Commission, declaring that "U.S. Marines impudently used toxic gas, killing or seriously affecting many civilians."

Serves Notice On NATO's Defense Plan

1969 Target Date Set By DeGaulle To Drop Program

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle served notice today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must drop its integrated command structure by 1969. He said France would halt its boycott of the Common Market if a common farm policy is adopted. He was evasive about his electoral intent in a news conference lasting an hour and 25 minutes.

He also labeled groundless any speculation that France might act as a mediator in the Viet Nam conflict, but vaguely promised that she might be disposed to help if, at some future time, sound possibilities for settlement might arise.

As to his presidential candidacy in the Dec. 5 election, the 74-year-old president said only: "I promise you that you will certainly know (my intentions) within two months."

He roved over a list of questions posed to him as the conference began in Elysee Palace before more than 1,000 newsmen and officials.

In discussing the NATO question, De Gaulle said: "We will remain allies of our allies as long as we judge necessary the solidarity of the western powers for the defense of Europe, but at the expiration of our (NATO) engagements, that is to say in 1969, will be the end of (France's) subordination to integration."

This was a reference to the integrated command structure at Supreme Allied Command, Europe (SHAPE) first established by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and headed by an American general ever since.

Garbage Collection Fee Nets $64,367 In First 10 Months

Revenue from Sedalia's $1-per-month residential garbage collection fee has totaled $64,367.37 through the month of August, Mayor L. L. Studer said Wednesday. The program is 10 months old.

Studer released month-by-month collections of the garbage fee dating back to its start in November, 1964. The mayor noted the funds derived from the fee were to be used for salary increases for city employees, to relieve the general revenue fund to a considerable extent in the operation of the Sanitation Department and to contribute funds to an industrial program to induce new industries to locate here. The salary hikes mentioned have already been granted.

A breakdown on the garbage revenue follows:

Month	Amount
November, 1964	$ 2,657.92
December, 1964	6,964.84
January, 1965	6,367.41
February, 1965	6,312.25
March, 1965	7,721.29
April, 1965	6,668.57
May, 1965	6,619.79
June, 1965	7,176.00
July, 1965	6,830.00
August, 1965	7,049.00
Total	$64,367.37

GUAM — Conventional 750-lb. bombs are stacked in front of B-52 Stratofortresses here prior to a raid on Viet Cong positions in South Viet Nam. The giant jet bombers can carry 24 of the bombs externally (under the wings) and 27 more in their bomb bays. ## Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for a long time and you're not bad when it comes to teen-age foolishness, mother-in-law and free-loading relatives. But I sure wish you'd keep your trap shut about social drinking.

Believe it or not, a lot of people pay attention to the junk you write. On account of you, folks who used to enjoy a couple of sociable martinis before dinner are wondering if maybe they aren't alcoholics. For example, we were at a party last night and I asked a woman if she'd like another highball. She replied, "I don't think Ann Landers would approve. I've already had two."

Do you think it's right to make people feel guilty if they take a drink to relax? You keep harping on the evils of liquor and then quote doctors to back you up. Have you noticed there are more old drunks around than old doctors? — BOURBON BARNEY.

Dear Barn: Those "old" drunks you see around are probably a lot younger than they look. Among other things, liquor ages people.

Furthermore, Buster, the moderate drinkers rarely object to my advice. The bees come from the heavy boozers. Anyone who feels the need to point out that he is a social drinker and not a drunk is in trouble already.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to shake the hand of that woman who wrote in to say she loves to watch her husband's face when he is asleep and that his snoring doesn't bother her because it means he is home where he belongs.

I live in a trailer court where all I hear is, "My Carl is a skunk" and "My Vernon is an idiot." I never say a word about Ed. I just listen.

Yesterday one of the wives said, "Is your husband a saint or something? Doesn't he have ANY faults?" I answered, "I have nothing to complain about, and if I did have I sure wouldn't broadcast it to the neighbors."

The woman looked at me like I was nuts. Will you please say something to wives who are all the time knocking their husbands? — MRS. NO COMPLAINTS.

Dear Mrs.: It's unforgivable. The woman who runs down her husband reveals more about herself than she says about him.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago while on a trip to North Carolina I bought a beautiful little console table.

I hadn't had the table more than a month when a friend of mine went crazy over it. Liz insisted it was the only table she had ever seen that would fit perfectly in her hall, which was odd-shaped and impossible to decorate.

I hated to part with the table but she begged so hard I agreed to sell it to her for exactly what I paid—plus the shipping.

That was three weeks ago. This morning Liz called to say she was browsing through a local furniture store and ran into a table exactly like the one I had sold her. It was priced at $35 less. She added, "And your table had some scratches I didn't see when I bought it."

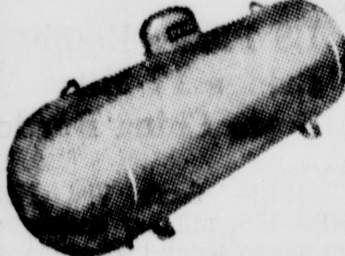

I'm so mad I can't see straight. If the table has scratches on it her kids put them there. Shall I tell her to bring the table back (scratches and all) and then return the money? — G. L.

Dear G.L.: No. You've already invested too much time and energy in this mess. Now leave it alone. And in the future stay out of the furniture business. Let your friends find their own tables, then if they have a gripe they can go to the manager of the store.

Wall-Stuerke Wedding Held Late in July

Miss Elizabeth Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wall, Sweet Springs, became the bride of Mr. Paul Stuerke, son of Mrs. Olinda Stuerke, Sweet Springs, at eight o'clock Saturday evening, July 31 at Sweet Springs Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. James Young, before an altar lighted by cathedral candles. Candelabra were entwined with Southern Smilax and accented with blue Killian daisies and white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full belled gown of ivory peau de soie, accented with a large bow and self fabric flower, off center at the apex of a diagonal drape effect, which defined the high rise waistline. The bodice was fashioned with a batteau neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bell shaped skirt fell into an aisle wide train. Her ivory silk illusion veil fell from a pearlized crown. She carried ivory glamelias, surrounded by foliage and a delicate detailing of leaf accent.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Joy O. Payne, Kirksville, organist, who accompanied Mrs. Dean Humphrey, Kansas City, as she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Their corsages were of white roses.

Mrs. James Knox, Pittsburg, Kan., matron of honor, wore a ballerina length gown of blue organza with detachable floor length overskirt. The bodice was fashioned with an oval neckline and bracelet length sleeves. Soft unpressed pleats accented the overskirt, which had a Dior bow at the back waistline. Her headpiece was a simple blue bow with a blue net veil and she carried a bouquet of blue Killian daisies.

Mrs. Jack E. Russell, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Donald Leach, Kansas City; Miss Dolores Koch, Sweet Springs, and Miss Mary Kneemueller, Bridgeton, served as bridesmaids. Their dresses were like those worn by the maid of honor. They carried white glamelias and lemon leaves, as did the honor bridal assistant.

The bride's mother chose a blue sheath with matching accessories to wear at the ceremony. A pink sheath with matching jacket, and pink and white accessories were worn by the mother of the bridegroom. Their corsages were of ivory Cymbidium orchids.

Flower girl was miss Debbie

Stuerke, Higginsville. Her frock was of dotted Swiss, sashed with blue. Her headdress was a miniature styling of those worn by other bridal attendants. Miss Stuerke is a niece of the bridegroom.

Ringbearer was Master David Jenkins, Warrensburg, nephew of the bridegroom.

Mr. Bill Stuerke, Higginsville, and Mr. Neal Stuerke, Sweet Springs, served as best man and groomsmen, respectively. Ushers were Mr. John Wendell Fuehring, Mr. Kenneth Hollingsworth, Mr. Vincin Yount, all of Sweet Springs. Mr. Young and Mr. Hollingsworth also lighted tapers.

Mrs. Carroll Highbarger, Marshall, presided at the guest book. Gifts were received for the couple by Mrs. Bill Stuerke. The three were presented white roses to wear with their costumes.

At the reception in the church parlors following the ceremony, the bride's table was covered with a floor length white cloth with a white lace overskirt, adorned with smilax roping. Centering the table was a three tiered cake, flanked by three branch candelabra, holding ice blue burning tapers. Blue daisies and Baker's fern also graced the table.

Assisting at the refreshment table were: Mrs. William Brown, Columbia; Miss Carol Smith,

Sweet Springs; and Miss Ann Wall, Grand Island, Nebr. They were aided by Mrs. Robert Dun-

For travel, Mrs. Stuerke chose a cranberry A-line sheath, highlighted by a pink scarf at the neckline. Black accessories and a pink Cymbidium orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

Following a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the couple is at home in Marshall.

Official Business

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A Richmonder, in a hurry, left his car in a no-parking zone with the note: "I'm on official business."

When he returned there was a ticket on his windshield and on it the policeman had written: "So am I."

Saddletree Manufacturing An Art In Georgia Town

By BEN CHESTER
DEMOREST, Ga. (AP) — Henry Ford put America on wheels with the automobile, but in this small north Georgia town, the word is still "get a horse."

It is here that the production of saddletrees, or frames, continues as an art handed down for generations.

The Edward Flor Co., which says it is the largest firm of its type in the world, has been operating 82 years. It reports that business is better than ever.

From rough pine and poplar lumber, 53 skilled craftsmen in a tin-roofed building turn out 1,200 to 1,400 ready-for-leather saddle frames every week, in any style, shape or size a horse-man wants.

The operation is mostly wood, glue and nails, and with hand-saws and rough files.

Foreman Lester Palmer, who has been with the company 26 years, says the business has changed little since it began in 1883.

"I went to work here in 1939," Palmer said. "I started in the same job my father had, and he worked with the company about 50 years."

"We used an old undershot water wheel to pull two lines of machinery. When the old place burned down, there was just one electric motor used, and it ran a drill press."

"We tried to modernize once or twice, but it didn't seem to work out," Palmer said. "We just left things the way they are."

Investment Flop Turns Profitable

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The investment "mistake" of Kern County Land Co. founders has turned out to be one of the most enormously profitable flops in California business enterprise.

With mining bonanza profits, bankers Lloyd Tevis and James Ben Ali Haggin originally bought up San Joaquin Valley land with a plan to sell it to immigrant farmers they hoped to lure from England.

Spurning Wild West ventures in the 1870s, England's farmers just wouldn't buy. Tevis and Haggin were stuck with their acres. They turned to cattle raising and incorporated in 1890.

The land the bankers couldn't unload produced $416.6 million in oil royalty revenues through 1964.

President Dwight M. Cochran recently assured land company stockholders: "We will continue to have substantial income and cash flow from oil royalty payments for many, many years."

Kern County land is celebrating this month its 75th corporate birthday with broadly diversified assets exceeding $218 million. Newly acquired among these are controlling interest in J. I. Case Co., farm implement maker; and a partnership stake with Union Oil Co. in Australia's first major oil discovery at Moome field.

Kern County Land no longer is simply a land company nor is it confined to Kern County.

But it remains one of the country's biggest cattle raising operations, annually marketing about 200,000 head.

The beef animals start as calves on six company ranches in California, New Mexico and Arizona with a total of 1.8 million acres of company-owned land.

They go to market from scientifically managed feed lots near Bakersfield, Calif., and Scotts-bluff, Neb.

The company also is one of the nation's biggest corporate crop farmers. It has 118,000 acres of irrigated lands producing cotton, fruit, potatoes, and nuts. It operates only 11,000 acres on its own and leases the balance in big-scale crop sharing.

Colorful Measure Of Contaminants

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The state says it has come up with a colorful method of measuring auto contaminants.

In the process, air is trapped in water by a special device. Color-producing chemicals are added. The water then turns red, blue, green or some other color, depending on what pollutant is being measured. The intensity of the color is measured electronically to show how much of the pollutant is in the

Policeman a Symbol of Authority

By BERNARD GAVZER
Associated Press Writer

Directing traffic, shepherding school children across the street, walking his lonely nighttime beat, gun and billy club at the ready, the American policeman is the street corner symbol of authority.

There are 300,000 full-time and part-time such symbols. At times, it seems that to a man they are convinced that as symbols of something sacred they are being sullied and despoiled.

Policemen in all parts of the country, individually and through their organizations, are preoccupied with several issues about which they are absolutely convinced:

1. That the dice are loaded in favor of the criminal because of a series of court decisions involving constitutional rights.

2. That because of the civil rights movement, the Negro violates certain laws through protest demonstrations and that this encourages widespread violation of all laws.

3. That civilian review boards groups which would check charges against police are deliberate plots to undermine police authority.

Crime and law enforcement in the United States are moving rapidly to a crisis stage. The rise in crime in the last decade has been six times as great as the rise in population. And law enforcement people, ranging from the FBI's J. Edgar Hoover, to Patrolman Robert (Mac) MacDougal of the 19-man police force in Leonia, N.J., express convictions that police are being handcuffed in their attempts to combat crime.

"We mollycoddle young criminals and release unreformed hoodlums to prey anew on society," Hoover says in speeches on this theme. "The bleeding hearts, particularly among the judiciary, are so concerned for young criminals that they become indifferent to the rights of law-abiding citizens."

Says former President Dwight D. Eisenhower: "I believe the United States is becoming atmosphere in a policy of lawlessness. If we like the law, we obey it. If we don't, we do not."

The business of being a policeman is unlike any other in American life. It has never been a popular or attractive job for those people already established in the community. It was left to the poorest element or to the immigrants. For most of its history since 1844, police were almost always accused of being corrupt or in league with crooks. In many places, they were. This legacy has remained although in the last few decades there has been a marked rise in the professionalism of police and in the increased standards of police departments.

What does the policeman — the man on the beat, the cop at the street crossing, the detective on homicide investigation — think about his job? How does he see himself?

"I'm only a cop," says Patrolman Frank Foucault, 41, of Precinct 10, Livorno and Elmhurst, in Detroit, "but you look at me real close and you will see something that has more power than even the president of the United States. I don't mean me, Frank Foucault; I mean me, the cop."

"I have the power of life and death. In 10 seconds, I can kill someone or let him live, and I don't have a jury or a judge or anybody there to say yes or no. You give me this awesome responsibility but you don't want to pay to hire the very best. You cry 'police brutality' without knowing what is happening. You talk about crime in the streets but you tolerate courts giving criminals a slap on the wrist. You don't know what a cop is for or what he should do."

In terms of police work, there were three major Supreme Court decisions which had direct impact on search and seizure, interrogation, and arrest and detention.

In one case, Andrew Mallory, a 19-year-old Washington, D.C., Negro, was convicted of rape and sentenced to death. Police had arrested him at 2:30 p.m. one day and detained him until after he had signed a confession at 12:30 a.m. before arraignment him. The Supreme Court reversed the conviction, saying under the law the "delay between arrest and arraignment must not be of a nature to give opportunity for extraction of a confession."

In another, Danny Escobedo, a 22-year-old Mexican, was seized in connection with the slaying of his brother-in-law in Chicago. Attempts by a lawyer to see him were frustrated by police, and Escobedo's plea to see his lawyer were brushed off by police who told him the lawyer didn't want to see him. He made a full confession and was subsequently convicted of murder. In a 5-4 Supreme Court decision, it was held "the refusal to honor the accused's request to consult with his attorney constituted a denial of his right to assistance of counsel under the Sixth and 14th Amendments, and that the statements should not have been admitted into evidence."

In a third case, that involving Dollree Mapp, three Cleveland, Ohio, police came to her home seeking a person wanted for questioning. She called up her lawyer and on his advice refused to let the cops enter without a search warrant. Three hours later, the police forced their way in. The police then searched the place and found some obscene and pornographic material. She was subsequently convicted of possession of obscene literature. The Supreme Court reversed the decision, saying that "as a matter of due process, evidence obtained by search and seizure in violation of the Fourth Amendment is inadmissible in a state court as it is in a federal court."

In some quarters these decisions were heralded as welcome and necessary, especially since they forced a review of arrest and search and seizure procedures.

But on the whole, police felt they had been dealt a low blow. On a recent midnight-8 a.m. watch in Chicago's 1st Precinct, Lt. Stanley Bazarek talked about the impact of court decisions.

"That Mallory case was spectacularly unfavorable," he says. "Say you got pickpockets in Grant Park, near Buckingham Fountain, where there are a lot of tourists. You get some complaints and then you get a good suspect. You want to build a case good enough for the district attorney to take, but now your witnesses or complainants are back in Iowa. You can't get a confession, so how are you going to make a case in four hours unless you hang him by his toes?"

The Mallory decision set no time limit in hours but since there was a 10-hour period until he was arraigned, police tend to think they have to do it in half that time. Chicago has speeded up its fingerprinting, photographing and police station processing to avoid challenges.

But one police authority after another has said there are certain common law crimes which literally need interrogation and a statement in order to be solved and proved.

"Consider murder," says New York Police Commissioner Vincent Broderick. "The classic technique is to look for evidence at the scene and then question everyone you can find who might have the slightest information to contribute. When you go out, you might question 200 persons. Does the policeman have to warn each person that whatever he says might be used against him? He knows that all 200 people can't be involved. Does he have to be circumspect because he knows that only one person can be responsible and that perhaps later the actual defendant can protest he had no counsel, no warning about rights, and so on?"

Ray Girardin, a former police reporter who is now Detroit's police commissioner, says, "Police have learned that they can perform efficiently under these court interpretations. The laws are not new, just the interpretation. The fact is that our arrests are up, not down."

Nicholas Katzenbach, attorney general of the United States, entered the debate between law enforcement and the judiciary, saying that recent court decisions have produced great confusion.

"As a result, policemen, district attorneys and trial court judges have become increasingly unsure of the law with respect to arrest and post-arrest procedures, often differing vigorously among themselves," he says.

He also comments that "it would be ridiculous to state that the overriding purpose of any criminal investigation is to insure equal treatment. Obviously, criminal investigation is designed to discover those guilty of crime."

While the court decisions are popular subjects of discussion among police, the rising cry for civilian review boards can raise police hackles almost instantaneously.

There is a police advisory board in Philadelphia, in Rochester, N.Y.; York, Pa. (defunct), and Minneapolis (which has never functioned). These review boards were created to receive, investigate and act upon civilian complaints against police.

Efforts to establish similar boards in New York, Los Angeles, Detroit, Newark and other cities have consistently been resisted.

During and after the recent riots in Los Angeles, Negro leaders called for the establishment of such a board to oversee police activities.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown came out against such a group checking up on police, saying it would hinder proper law enforcement — the same tack consistently taken by Police Chief William H. Parker.

Brown told newsmen he feels Negroes overstate their case when it comes to police brutality. "As an old district attorney, I know the police have a difficult job to do," he said.

O. W. Wilson, Chicago police superintendent, former dean of the University of California School of Criminology and a noted police authority, explains objections to review boards, this way:

"Discipline is a function of command. There is an ample and effective machinery for the investigation and adjudication of charges of misconduct by an officer. A civilian review board will not enhance civil rights of individuals but cause the reverse since it has the effect of placing the police in the role of adversary."

"Our interest is in reaching the truth. I do not want dishonest or undisciplined police in the department. Such men are a threat to the command as well as the public and I will use everything available to discover them and remove them. I am not interested in drawing a so-called 'blue curtain' of protection about such officers."

Donal E. J. MacNamara, a onetime New York policeman who is now a criminologist and who has conducted many private surveys of police departments, says the major fear police have about external boards is "that these boards will be politically oriented and that police will be the pawns in every political shift."

"And they are convinced that civilians lack any understanding of police work and are ignorant of the decision that the policeman has to make in a frequently volatile situation on the street. Also, the defendant appearing before a review board, all dressed nicely and clean-shaven and sober, is a much different person than the abusive drunk that the police officer may have had to deal with."

This challenge posed by court decisions, demands for civilian review boards and the implied criticism that police work is not the most esteemed work in the community, has produced problems in recruiting. The pay generally lags behind that of competing industry, the hours are unattractive because they are disruptive to orderly family life, and there is always the risk of death and injury. (In 1963, the last year for which complete figures are available, 88 police were killed in the line of duty and 11 out of 100 were assaulted.)

ALBERT SCHWEITZER

A half century ago, the man who has been called mankind's most eminent servant and a saint gave up a brilliant career in Europe to go where he felt he could best serve humanity. In 1913, with his bride, Helene, he set up a primitive hospital at Lambarene in what is now Gabon, to minister to the disease-ridden natives of equatorial Africa.

Other honors have been many—Britain's Order of Merit, the Goethe Prize in Literature. In 1949 he visited the United States to receive an honorary degree from the University of Chicago and to speak at the Goethe Bicentennial at Aspen, Colo.

His first operation was in a chicken coop, and it saved a human life. In time, Lambarene became a complex of medical facilities and living quarters for relatives who set up housekeeping on the hospital grounds while waiting for a patient to recover. They brought household belongings and even their animals.

Reverence for all God's creatures led him to treat animals and even insects and plants as tenderly as he did his patients at Lambarene.

Great organist and foremost interpreter of Bach, disciple and authority on Goethe, philosopher, author, physician and theologian, Albert Schweitzer has left his mark large in man's story—above all as humanitarian.

Awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1952, he was too busy at the time at Lambarene to go to Oslo. But in 1954, he arrived in the Norwegian capital to make his Nobel speech on "Problems of Peace."

Underwater Research Plan Probes Wilderness Areas

By RALPH DIGHTON
LOS ANGELES — (AP) — By 1970, an underwater research expert says, man will know some regions of the now-mysterious ocean better than he knows many wilderness areas on the surface.
The forecast comes from a former submariner and scientist recently named to handle the industrial end of a five-year Navy program called DSSP—for Deep Submergence Systems Project.
"The technology that has enabled men to probe far into outer space also has brought new capability in inner space," says retired Capt. Arthur Krapf, former director of the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, D.C.
"Inner space, the millions of cubic miles of salt water that cover seven-tenths of the earth's surface, holds riches which have teased man's imagination ever since he learned to swim. It also has great military use and may even be our medium of survival someday."
The initial goals of DSSP are threefold: To learn how to rescue men from as far down as submarines can go without being crushed; to salvage ships, aircraft and objects from space at depths down to 6,000 feet; and to conduct military and scientific research down to 20,000 feet.
"The goals are expandable," said Krapf, "but for the time being we'll settle for exploration down to four miles—98 per cent of the ocean is above that level."
"Compared to the multibillion-dollar space effort, our funding is small—less than $300 million. In the long run, however, this project could accomplish more for the nation and humanity in defending against underwater attack, finding new food and mineral resources, and opening a haven from nuclear bombardment."
Prime management contract for DSSP went to an aerospace firm, Northrop Corp., which had

Haiti Rats Symbol Of Foreign Aid

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Rats infest Haiti. They nest in the thick grass roof of a peasant's hut and feed on his meager crops. They seem to own the country road at night as they flit back and forth in the headlights.

The U.S. government once tried to do something about the rats. Mongooses were introduced into the country. But the project failed. The mongooses, instead of attacking the rats ate the peasant's chickens, adding to his burden.

For many Haitians, the mongoose project is a fair illustration of the effectiveness of foreign aid in the Western Hemisphere's poorest nation. One hundred million dollars has been spent to aid Haiti since World War II. Most of it came from the United States. But the deterioration of the country seems to continue.

Much of the aid was for road construction and maintenance. Yet the 200-mile ride from Port au Prince to Les Cayes, a southern port city, takes more than 15 hours by Jeep today. It was a four-hour trip by car in 1957, the year Francois Duvalier became president.

Near Les Cayes a huge earth mover sits abandoned on a rise in the rutted road. The initials "U.S.A." are stenciled on the doors. Weeds grow through the engine hood. Peasants in the neighborhood say the earth mover blew a tire six years ago.

In the potentially rich Artibonite Valley, a dam and irrigation system stands as a monument to what U.S. officials describe as corruption and inefficiency in the Haitian government. More than $30 million, borrowed from the Export-Import Bank, went into the project. The money was exhausted before electric generators were installed. They were left to rust in the fields.

The Duvalier government no longer maintains the dam and the irrigation canals. They are clogged with silt, limiting agricultural development of the valley.

One aid project has been successful in recent years, and its success helps explain some of the failures. In 1961, Duvalier signed a $3.5-million credit agreement with the International Development Bank. Under it, an institute of agricultural and industrial development was established as an autonomous branch of the Haitian government.

The director, Jean Deje, a U.S. citizen, assumed control over money and hiring. The institute set out to provide financial and technical assistance for the small peasant farmer — and also a market for his product.

This was the key feature. In the Haitian feudal economy, the peasant farmer doesn't conceive of a good market for a good crop. Cotton, growing nearly wild, always has been purchased by Port au Prince merchants for five or six cents a pound.

The institute, through a series of small loans to peasants, encouraged proper cultivation of a better grade of cotton, then paid 10 cents a pound.

The program started slowly as skeptical peasants used their loans to buy fertilizer, insecticide, seed and advice from the institute. In a matter of months, the yield on many tiny holdings jumped from 200 to 2,000 pounds per acre. The number of participating farmers in the volunteer program went from 136 in 1962 to 1,053 in 1964 to 4,600 this year. The 1965 production was 5.2 million pounds of the highest grade cotton Haiti has seen in generations.

Similar loan programs have been carried out for corn and grain, with similar results in the past 12 months, according to the institute's figures.

Huey Long's Plans Not All Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty years after an assassin's bullet struck down Kingfish Huey Long, "we've not only done most of what he advocated but we've even gone beyond it," says his son, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.

The flamboyant Kingfish, whose controversial "share the wealth" politics carried him from the backwoods of northern Louisiana to the U.S. Senate, was shot Sept. 8, 1935, in Louisiana's 32-story state Capitol building at Baton Rouge. He died two days later.

"No one should be too rich and no one too poor" was the way he felt, the senator said in an interview. Sixteen at the time his father was assassinated, he is now assistant Democratic leader of the Senate.

Welfare programs, government construction of highways and hospitals, abolition of poll taxes, and free education are just some of Huey Long's programs that have long since become law, the senator said, adding that the Social Security and welfare benefits go beyond what he envisioned.

"President Johnson has said he used to come over to the Senate and listen to Huey Long speak," the senator added, noting that a large part of the President's education and anti-poverty programs bear marked similarity to the Kingfish's ideas.

There have been differences, too. "We've tried to help people own their own homes," he said. "He tried to give it to them debt free."

Much of what Long did was extremely controversial. He was impeached by the state Assembly within a year of taking office as governor. But he lined up enough state senators behind him — the charges were due to be tried by the Senate — so the trial never took place.

Garber Family Holds Reunion At Lake Resort

Descendants of the late Edwin and Elizabeth Diener Garber held a week's reunion at Gentle Slopes Resort, Lake of the Ozarks, in early August.

Attending were: the Rev. and Mrs. George McCormick and daughter, missionaries on leave from South India; the Rev. and Mrs. Walter Wulff and son, Columbus Junction, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alexander and children, Melrose, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Reiss and sons, Osage City, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Garber and children, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fuls and children, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Garber, Jr., and daughter, Tipton; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Garber and children, Shawnee, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Garber and children, North Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gehman and daughters, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Garber and children and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Garber and sons, Versailles.

Robert Garber and children, Wilmington, N. C., arrived Aug. 7 at the resort and the 13 brothers and sisters and their families attended Bethel Mennonite Church, near Versailles. The Rev. Mr. McCormick was guest speaker.

Dinner was held that day with the Diener families at Providence Community Center. The meal was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Ware.

When Huey Long refused to resign as governor upon election as senator, opponents accused him of being a dictator. He finally left the governorship a year later after his close friend, O. K. Allen, had been elected governor.

After Long's death, many of his associates, including Richard Leche who had been elected governor on the Long ticket in 1936, were sent to jail on various charges including fraud and income tax evasion in what became known as the "Louisiana scandals."

The Kingfish made no secret of his many relatives on the state pay roll, contending they deserved it because "they were among my political supporters of longest and most arduous service."

"By any objective standards," the senator contends, "he was the best governor Louisiana ever had. He was a doer, and he was enormously popular with the people."

"Many people have told me," Long said, "that they consider Huey Long responsible for Social Security."

"They think (President Franklin D.) Roosevelt became interested in it because he needed something to build a backfire against some of the headway Huey Long was making."

"He never told me he was planning to run for president but as a politician I could see all the signs," Sen. Long said.

"I think he figured as a third party candidate he'd run well to the left of Roosevelt and pull enough votes away from Roosevelt that the Republicans would win. Then, in four years, he'd be the Democratic candidate and would be elected."

"A lot of wealthy Republicans would have helped him. They wanted to beat Roosevelt so badly they would have helped Huey Long even though they might have created a Frankenstein. They certainly didn't agree with anything Huey Long was for."

"I just don't know if he ever would have been elected," the senator said.

At the time of his assassination, Huey Long was only 42. Like his life, Long's death stirred controversy. The alleged assassin, Dr. Carl Weiss, was shot to death by Long's bodyguards within seconds of the Kingfish's assassination and some have accused them of shooting the senator.

"There's no doubt in the world" that Weiss did it, the senator said.

In the two days that he lay dying, Long said, his father asked his doctors: "I don't know why that boy did that. Who is he? Why did he do it?"

The senator says the main reason he knows is that the judicial district which Weiss' father-in-law represented on the State Supreme Court had been restricted, forcing the judge to retire rather than face almost certain defeat. Of the idea that Weiss feared Long might accuse the family of having Negro blood, the senator said: "My father had no such idea and never cared about that."

Twenty years after Long died, his son said, a poll showed half the persons questioned regarded him as the greatest governor in the state's history. His political heirs, meanwhile, have continued to dominate the state's politics, which have generally matched the Longs against the anti-Longs.

Say Farewell To Father F. C. Laudick

Rev. Frank C. Laudick, C.P.P.S., pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Sedalia since January, 1958, was honored at a farewell gathering by the school children and parishoners in Sacred Heart School Tuesday evening.

A chorus of fifth and sixth graders represented the grade school in singing and acting out "Down by the Station," a novelty number depicting Fr. Laudick packing and boarding a train for his new parish at Lakin, Kan. Tony Brown, president of the high school Student Council, introduced Mike Coughlin who recited a poem, Carl Bopp with his accordion, and Ricky Esser who sang "God Bless You and Keep You." Father Laudick then received gifts from the grade school and high school.

Rev. Richard Kalaf, C.P.P.S., one of the assistant pastors at Sacred Heart, reviewed the spiritual and material progress of the parish during the nearly 8 years that Fr. Laudick served as its fifth pastor. Highlights among these were the addition to the Sisters' Convent, side entrances and ramps to the church, the painting of the interior of the church, parking and playground lots black topped, and numerous improvements on the school. Emphasized, too, was his ability as a leader and how to implement the cooperation given to him in his many activities.

William Gibson, a member of the board of lay trustees represented the parish in offering Fr. Laudick a purse.

Father Laudick closed the program with his expression of appreciation, noting the warmth he had found in the people of Sedalia and thanking them and his parishoners for the cooperation they had given him. He assured them of his continued prayers for them and asked to be kept in their prayers. The gathering then adjourned to the school cafeteria to bid their personal farewell to Father Laudick.

Father Laudick left for his new parish at Lakin in western Kansas Wednesday morning.

Father Lawrence Grownay, C.P.P.S. arrived that evening to succeed him as pastor here.

He sold the first machine in 1853. Orders were few until, at Crystal Palace in New York City, he demonstrated his elevator by riding the platform high in the air and then ordering the rope cut.

Crouch was charged with driving 60 m.p.h. in a 30 mile zone, careless and imprudent driving and driving 90 m.p.h. in a 40 mile zone.

Police said two patrol cars participated in pursuing Crouch's sports auto and Officers Newt Raines and David Thomas carried the chase to west of LaMonte where they were eluded. Crouch was arrested later that morning in Sedalia.

Ann Lou Miller, Route 2, LaMonte, charged with running a red light forfeited a $5 bond.

Circuit Court

Joseph Lionel Bohon, Sedalia, was sentenced to three years imprisonment Wednesday in Circuit Court after he pleaded guilty to a charge of uttering a forged check.

Judge Frank W. Hayes overturned a city Police Court verdict and ruled in favor of the defendant, Carl Allen, of Sedalia, in a disturbance of the peace case taken to Circuit Court on appeal.

In the case heard without a jury Wednesday, Hayes found Allen innocent of the city charge.

Allen had been fined $100 and sentenced to 90 days in the city jail in November, 1964, on a charge of disturbing the peace filed on complaint of Charles Knox after a disturbance at a local tavern, police records show. The city court, however, had paroled Allen on the jail sentence.

Livesay was found guilty in the city court on Nov. 23, 1964, on a charge of driving 80 m.p.h.

SHADOW OF ACTIONS TO COME—This Newsmap illustrates the classic maneuver employed by the U. S. Marines in their recent assault on a Viet Cong troop concentration on Chu Lai peninsula in South Viet Nam. The Marines used all the modern weapons of land, sea and air warfare to encircle the Red guerrillas with sweeping pincers movements. This successful maneuver, with modifications dictated by local conditions, may be the forerunner of similar actions against Red staging areas. In addition to the units listed on the map, the U. S. landing team of 3,200 ground combat personnel included the 2nd Battalion, 12th Marines (Artillery) and the 1st Marine Air Wing. The Army furnished armed helicopters and observation planes and other amphibious ships included USS Bayfield, Talladega, Cabildo, Point Defiance and the Vernon City.

'New Math' Here To Stay In Public School System

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is called the new math, but very little of it is less than 100 years old.

It has been praised as "intellectually stimulating" and denounced as "pedantic rubbish." There have been learned articles written from ivory towers and popular articles written from wells of ignorance. Read them all, and the odds are you'll find yourself so confused you can't make change for a quarter.

One thing seems certain: The so-called new math is here to stay as part of the new techniques sweeping U.S. schools. Not in any of its present forms, perhaps, because the new, new math is said to be in the offing.

Briefly, and at the risk of over-simplification, the basic idea of the reform movement is to lessen the emphasis on memorization of facts and processes and concentrate more on logic and reason.

To this end, elementary algebra and geometry are introduced in the earliest school years, and matrix algebra, in a 30 mile zone and fined $50.

Milt Sidney McKenzie, Smithton, who had appealed a Magistrate Court conviction for careless and imprudent driving, dropped the appeal effort and a guilty plea was entered to the charge in Circuit Court Wednesday.

McKenzie had been fined $25 plus court costs on March 25, 1964, in the lower court and that fine was affirmed and assessed by Circuit Judge Frank W. Hayes. The charge was filed for making a left turn in front of oncoming traffic in connection with an accident.

Magistrate Court

A Whiteman AFB airman arrested Tuesday night by Highway Patrol Trooper R. W. Bruce after a high-speed chase on Highway 50 was given a routine fine in Magistrate Court Thursday morning by Judge Frank Armstrong.

Airman Gerald Paul Harwood, 22, was charged with exceeding the night speed limit, 100 m.p.h. in a 65 mile zone, and with using improper license plates.

Armstrong fined him $25 plus costs on the speeding charge and $5 plus costs on the license violation. Trooper Bruce said the chase started east of LaMonte and ended near Dresden.

The airman was committed to the county jail in lieu of the fine.

NEW WRINKLE—A dashboard indicator showing necessary braking distance in relation to a car's speed is a new feature introduced by the French auto manufacturer, Citroen. As shown here on Citroen's DS-19, the stopping distance in meters is indicated on a line above the speed gauge, measured in kilometers.

Streamline Paratrooper Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has streamlined its two paratrooper divisions and re-gearred them to fight chiefly in underdeveloped areas like Southeast Asia rather than against a "sophisticated" enemy in Europe.

The action came after Army experts reviewed the role of the 82nd Airborne and 101st Airborne divisions "in the light of contemporary world conditions."

The slimmed-down divisions require only about half as many Air Force transports to carry them to trouble spots — 620 instead of 1,300 — and this gives the paratroopers what the Army calls "greater strategic mobility."

Stripped away from each division was a battalion of 47 self-propelled 90-millimeter guns, a battery of four Little John rockets and all heavy equipment not capable of being carried in the Air Force's C130 transport planes.

Each division was cut by 1,000 men, paring their strength to slightly under 13,000 men apiece.

In effect, the Army's combat developments command decided that airborne divisions would not be needed, at least at the outset, in any land battle against Communist armies in Europe.

However, it was stressed that in the event a need arose for the paratrooper units in Europe, they could be reinforced and fitted for action there.

Basically, the Army experts concluded that the most likely threats of the future will arise in areas like Asia, Africa and Latin America.

It was to meet these threats better that the airborne divisions were streamlined.

Bond For Sedalian Involved In Theft Is Set By Magistrate

Magistrate Margaret Young set bonds at $10,000 each Tuesday for four men charged with burglary and stealing in connection with a weekend break-in at the Montgomery Ward store in the East Hills shopping center in St. Joseph. Among the four charged was Bernard Lamont Brown, 23, who is from Sedalia.

Tom Duty, an assistant prosecuting attorney, estimated the value of the merchandise stolen at between $12,999 and $15,000.

Teenage Ban On General Sloppiness

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP)—Teen-agers have returned to junior and senior high school scrubbed and neat to comply with a ban on sandals, skirts above the knee, "wild hairdos" and general sloppiness.

Provincetown, on the tip of Cape Cod, attracts thousands of tourists each summer of all types including the beatniks, and beatnik dress and behavior was beginning to rub off on the hometown teen-agers, school officials said.

Before school opened, they published a code of dress and behavior in a local newspaper. Today, School Supt. Arthur Malchman said. "The boys and girls really looked nice—there were even some sport coats and ties."

Smathers said St. Augustine, the nation's oldest city, is beginning a new era but "we must look back and mark milestones."

The Seasons Come and Go

"The seasons of the year run their course swiftly."

Now this is a dull truism.

Ask any of the thousands of local children what they think of the rapid passing of the vacation months.

Ask those people in the Bahamas and southern Florida who have unexpectedly become victims of the September hurricane period.

Ask those hay fever sufferers about how speedy came the time of year for sneezes and asthma reactions during insufferable humidity.

Everything runs in cycles.

But by and large the discomforts and havoc of nature will be alleviated.

Similarly, the hostile attitude of many children towards the opening of the fall school term will modify as they become more familiar with an advanced grade's curriculum, the new teachers, the new playmates and companions as well as the friends of yesteryear with whom they become reunited.

These are the facts of life that must come just as the seasons change. The many-sided attractions of summer are fun, but life cannot be a continuous round of entertainment. Knowledge must be acquired. Lucky are those youngsters who can enhance their education and find in the process some essence of pleasure in the doing of it.

The uneducated and half-educated have slim chance for a successful and rewarding career as an adult without settling down to the serious business of obtaining a well-rounded education. This is abundantly clear in these days of competition in the areas of trades, businesses and professions.

The idea that study of literature, the fine arts, economics, mathematics, and sciences is some abstract formula of adults to keep children out of their hair, is a harmful misconception.

The change of season from vacation's listlessness to the serious business of attending school calls for the vital interest of every child and his parents, too, in an early adjustment to the basic values of education available to anyone determined to recognize and use them.

Tip For Bookworms

By Polly Cramer
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY—Autograph portraits or pictures of any kind easily. If the ink will not stay on or the writing is not very clear, just rub the area with an eraser before writing. This solves the problem quite well.—ELLA

DEAR POLLY—I have found a wonderful use for the cushion seats of old overstuffed chairs and divans no longer of any use. I made easy-to-wash slip covers for the cushions and sewed handles on each. When my nieces and nephews come to visit and want to watch television, they each grab a cushion and put it on the floor to sit on. The children love them.—TONI

DEAR POLLY—When moving from one city or state to another, always pack the local telephone directory. When you want to correspond with anyone back home or at Christmas time, you have the names and addresses handy.—MRS. N. C.

DEAR POLLY—My eight-year-old daughter is quite a "bookworm" and is seldom without a book nearby. She reads at all odd moments, even waiting for the tub to fill for her bath. She has been taught to be very careful with library books. This meant a continual search for a bookmark. She discovered that a stretch headband (so popular with the school girls now) makes a perfect bookmark. She slides it over the back cover of the book and the page she is reading. She, too, is a faithful reader of the column and tells me the pointers I should try.—MRS. L. C.

It's the Law
In Missouri

QUESTION: When real estate does not come up to a buyer's expectation, does the buyer have any remedy?

FACTS: A real estate promotion company in its printed prospectus and by the sales pitch of its agents described a large tract of uncleared semiarid Texas land as "one of the richest, most certain agricultural districts of the world," and stated the promoter could "show more advantages and fewer disadvantages than can be found elsewhere on the American continent." With reference to irrigation, it was stated that the "most expert critics on irrigation, after examining our system, have pronounced it as nearly perfect as human ingenuity can devise," that the pumping system and main canals were of sufficient size, and that the quantity of water was greater than the buyers could ever use.

Relying on these statements, a Missouri land owner bought a parcel of the Texas land, trading in his Missouri land as part payment. He later discovered that the irrigation system was wholly inadequate to water the land and that crops could not be produced, and sued the seller to get back his Missouri land and the additional cash he had paid. Was the buyer entitled to rescind (cancel) the transaction?

ANSWER: The doctrine of caveat emptor (let the buyer beware) is the basic rule in land transactions, both as to defects in the title and as to the quality of the premises. The seller does not impliedly warrant either title or quality. Basically, the buyer buys at his own risk.

In the case of defects in title, the buyer protects himself by having his lawyer make a title examination or by requiring title insurance, and by getting a warranty deed from the seller.

In the case of defects in the quality of the premises, the buyer can protect himself by having the seller make express warranties of quality in the contract for the sale of the land, for example, "the house has been constructed of good quality materials in a workmanlike manner, and if any structural defects appear in the house within one year from the date of this contract, the seller at his expense will put the house in sound condition."

If the buyer is induced to purchase the property by reason of oral or written misrepresentations by the seller or the seller's agent, then the buyer will have a remedy. The misrepresentation must be of an existing fact, and not merely an expression of opinion or puffing; frequently these are very difficult to distinguish.

If the seller says, "The house has a copper water system," and if the house in fact has steel water lines, this is a false representation of an existing fact for which the seller is liable.

If the seller says, "This lot ought to triple in value in the next two years," this is only an expression of opinion and the seller is not liable in the event the lot does not increase in value or if it decreases in value.

If the seller says, "This is the finest residential development in —," he probably is not liable if the development is not the best in the city.

In the case of the Texas land the court held that the seller's statements as to the irrigation system were false representations of existing facts for which the seller was liable. Although the court did not discuss the other statements quoted above, it is probably that they were simply puffing for which the seller would not be liable.

The promotion described above took place almost fifty years ago. The reader of this column will find it illuminating to study advertisements of certain current promotions of Florida swamps and southwest desert lands, separating the puffing and expressions of opinion from representations of existing facts. NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE: Aid for the Victim.—California law has recently come up with a couple of laws that make a start toward righting some of the tragic injustices that so often result from crime.

One — the first of its kind in the United States — makes public funds available to help innocent victims of violence. The amount provided is small (a total of $100,000 a year to cover all claims, with need a key factor), but at least it establishes the principle of community assistance. The other law provides indemnities for private citizens injured while trying to help catch criminals or prevent crimes.

The contagious spread of violence calls for imagination not only in thwarting the violent but also in helping the victim. Keeping the public peace is, after all, a community responsibility.

Legislation of Firearms Still Stymied

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Despite the assassination of the late President of the United States and despite the indiscriminate use of firearms in one of the worst recent riots in history, Congress still has not passed the Dodd Firearms Bill aimed at regulating the sale of deadly weapons.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., is still stymied in committee, and the lobbyists opposing it seem just as potent as ever.

There is, however, one new development. A confidential Senate report has just been drafted aimed at suspending the shipment and sale of firearms in riot areas during "the period in which it is necessary to employ the armed forces of the United States or the National Guard to maintain law and order."

This recommendation was drafted after Senator Dodd's subcommittee, studying the Los Angeles riots, learned that there was a 250 per cent increase in pistol sales during the first weekend of the riot.

Inside Watts itself, rioters looted sports stores, gun shops and pawn shops for weapons. But outside the inferno, gun dealers all over Los Angeles kept their stores open nights to peddle their deadly wares.

Most of the purchases were made by whites to protect their homes from the spreading riot. According to a subcommittee account, 4,000 guns were sold in one day—only 37 of them to Negroes.

Police confiscated more than 2,000 guns, many with price tags and pawn tickets still attached. Yet the police acknowledged to the subcommittee that they probably captured less than 10 per cent of the firearms used.

Ironically, a high percentage were rifles and shotguns — which the National Rifle Association contends are used for sport, seldom for crime.

Recommended Remedy

The subcommittee has drawn the following conclusion so far confidential, from the Los Angeles riots: "The subcommittee has been greatly concerned by the serious disorders in Los Angeles and elsewhere, and with the fact that substantial quantities of readily available firearms and ammunition have found their way into the hands of those participating in the disorders."

"Among the courses of action to be explored," continues the confidential report, "are possible amendments to the federal firearms act to authorize the President or the Attorney General to suspend interstate shipments of arms and ammunition into such areas during the period in which it is necessary to employ armed forces of the United States or the National Guard to maintain law and order and also the possibility of authorizing the President or the Attorney General to suspend sale of firearms and ammunition by federally licensed dealers in such areas during such periods to persons other than law enforcement officials."

The above, when published, is bound to bring another volley of protests from shooting clubs, gun manufacturers and ammunition makers. Already they have brought enough heat on congressmen to bury the report and to kill the Dodd Bill for all time.

This bill would ban interstate sale of mail-order guns, restrict over-the-counter sales of handguns to individuals within each state, halt the importation of foreign-made and military-surplus firearms not suitable for sporting use, and license federal firearms dealers, importers and manufacturers.

How The Lobby Works

Most massive opposition to this bill has come from the National Rifle Association whose 600,000 members have been bombarding members of Congress.

Last month, the Rifle Association turned its annual shooting contest at Camp Perry, Ohio, into a propaganda drive and protest rally against the Dodd Bill. The conference was held on federal property. In addition, free ammunition was supplied the contestants, so Uncle Sam ended up paying the bill.

The NRA plastered Camp Perry with slogans opposing the Dodd Bill and handed out thousands of bumper stickers proclaiming "Fight Crime, Not Sportsmen," "Beware of Gun Laws," and "Register Communists, Not Firearms." Ironically, Senator Dodd, as Vice Chairman of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, has been one of the nation's most outspoken anti-communists.

The National Shooting Sports Foundation has brought even more pressure upon subcommittee members by sending press releases, naming them, to all the newspapers within their states.

Press releases were sent to Michigan newspapers, for example, declaring: "The future of hunting and shooting in America may depend on Michigan's Senator Phillip Hart."

Then follows two pages of information about the Dodd Bill, suggesting that it will lead to the "contiscation of firearms." Identical releases, putting other subcommittee members on the spot, were sent to the newspapers in their states.

Behind this pressure campaign were the big gun and ammunition manufacturers which quietly put up the money for the National Shooting Sports Foundation.

The World Today

Bitterness And Heartaches Ahead

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bitterness and heartache are ahead for thousands of Negro pupils and Negro teachers in the South, even if full school integration should proceed without incident.

The harsh fact is that years of segregated, inferior education have left them ill-prepared to cope with the higher standards they will find in previously all-white schools.

Hundreds of Negro teachers already have lost their jobs as a direct result of desegregation. Where there is a surplus of teachers, the Negro usually is first to go.

In some cases this is outright racial discrimination, and redress may be available through the courts. The federal government is keeping a close watch and is prepared to step in where discrimination can be proved.

The National Education Association, too, is pledged to fight what it calls "illegal and capricious dismissals, intimidation, and punitive transfers."

But in a tragic number of cases, it isn't discrimination. The Negro teacher just does not measure up.

Dr. Dave Darland of the NEA said recently:

"Their education is traditionally bad. They are victims of inferior elementary schools, inferior secondary schools, and inferior colleges."

"They started behind, they stayed behind, and it would take a superman to catch up."

In Florida, all teachers must now pass the National Teacher Examination as a requirement for certification. Two hundred Negro teachers have lost their jobs there because of low test scores.

Throughout the South this year, there were special summer institutes for teachers of disadvantaged children. The institutes were sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education.

Within a week after they started, it was apparent that the problem wasn't only disadvantaged children, but disadvantaged teachers as well.

The director of one such institute, herself a Negro, said in an interview:

"We had 40 Negro teachers here from four Southern states. Some of them had advanced degrees from Negro colleges."

"Only one or two could write a coherent paragraph. The level of spoken English was just as bad."

"It is heart-breaking to think of these teachers going back to the classroom and inflicting their ignorance on hundreds of little children."

And what of those children? The road ahead will be rocky indeed as desegregation spreads.

A Negro youngster entering the 9th grade in a previously all-white school will be at a terrible disadvantage in competition with white classmates who have had eight years of the best education available.

It will be easier, perhaps, for younger children who are integrated at the first and second grade levels. But it will be difficult to them, too, if they come from homes where they never have seen a magazine, never held a pencil in their hand, never had a story read to them.

If the Negro youngsters fail, they may become discouraged and drop out of school altogether.

And then, ironically, they will be the victims of the very civil rights law that was designed for their benefit.

James Marlow is on vacation.

Vacation Sands Run Out

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The sands of vacation time have run out, and millions of children across the nation are heading back to school. Some may drag their feet a bit, but most are ready, willing, and, yes, eager to tackle their books.

The first day of school, even more than New Year's Day, marks a new beginning for children, parents and teachers. The slate is clean, report cards are blank, and the corners of the room are empty of obnoxious boys. It's a time for making resolutions to assure a happy, successful, and rewarding school year.

If you're a parent, resolve here and now to take a positive attitude toward your child's school and schooling. We all know there's a lot that needs improving in any school system. But by and large, our schools and teachers are doing a conscientious job of educating our youngsters.

Last spring, for example, "Grade Teacher" magazine polled a representative sampling of elementary school teachers across the country on the question: "If you had a million dollars to spend for your school system, what would you spend it for?" Overwhelmingly, the teachers voted for books, audio-visual aids, better school buildings, and other educational materials and facilities. Salary increases for themselves ranked low on their list of expenditures.

This should silence the critics who complain that all teachers care about is money. In most cases, their chief concern is children—and how to give them the best education possible. They may fall flat on their faces at times, but they try and try again. Certainly they deserve your co-operation and good will.

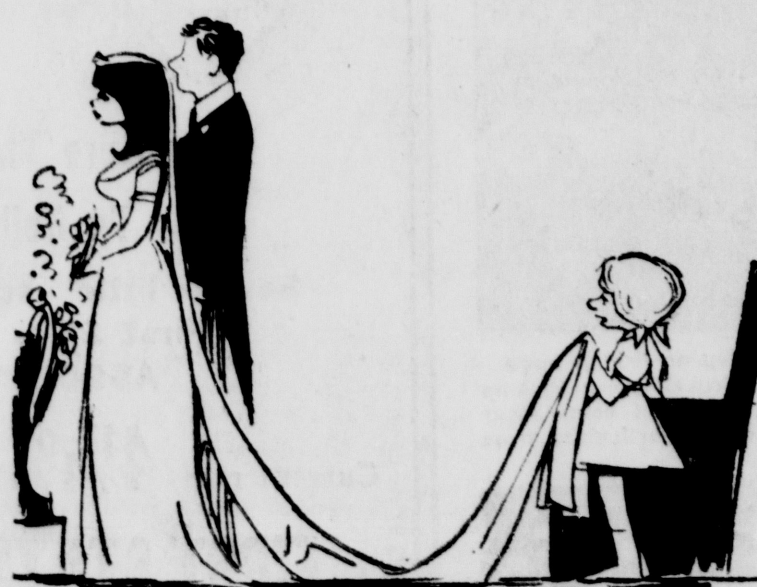

Resolve, too, to keep up on everything that affects your child's school life. Know what courses he is taking, his extra-curricular activities, who his teachers are, his academic strengths and weaknesses, his school friends, and the like. Make a special effort to attend school functions to which parents are invited.

At a summer orientation program for incoming college freshmen and interested parents, I noticed that almost every student was accompanied by a vitally concerned mom and dad. The parents asked questions about everything from engineering programs to girls' dorm rules.

When the registrar said this state university had accepted only the top 2,600 of the 8,600 students who applied, it occurred to me that many of the "lucky" ones owed part of their success in high school to their parents' interest and support.

May 1965-66 be a vintage year for you, your children, and our nation's schools!

Ashe Is Confident He Can Defeat Emerson In Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — "I can beat Emerson," a confident Arthur Ashe said today as he contemplated his next assignment in the National Tennis Championships.

"I have matured a lot. I have found out that good players are not infallible. They make mistakes like anybody else."

"I figure if I go out there and play tennis — play my best — I can win, no matter how much on form Emerson is."

The 22-year-old Negro, born in Richmond, Va., and now living in Los Angeles, faces Australia's Roy Emerson, holder of the U.S., Wimbledon and Australian titles and rated the world's best amateur player, Friday in the quarter-finals.

Ashe believes the winner will go to the finals where he will find waiting for him a young outsider named Charlie Pasarell.

Ashe was impressive in eliminating Thomas Koch of Brazil 12-10, 13-11, 10-8.

Pasarell, the talented and unpredictable Puerto Rican who upset second-seeded Fred Stolle of Australia last Sunday, met Mexico's sixth-seeded Rafael Osuna in one of the two men's quarter-finals today.

Third-seeded Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and South Africa's Cliff Drysdale played in the other.

The other half of the draw is in action Friday, with Emerson facing the fifth-seeded Ashe and Manuel Santana of Spain facing Antonio Palafox of Mexico, upset winner over seventh-seeded Chuck McKinley 9-7, 6-4, 8-6.

The women's quarter-finals will be completed, with Wimbledon champion Margaret Smith of Australia playing Justina Bricka of St. Louis in the feature match. Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., the top-ranked American, plays Tory Ann Fretz of Los Angeles.

Brazil's defending champion Maria Bueno, Britain's Ann Haydon Jones, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Carole Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, advanced Wednesday.

Emerson had to go all out Wednesday to beat Pierre Barthes of France 6-4, 13-11, 6-4. Ralston lost the first set and had to battle for his life before beating big Ron Holmberg 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-8, 11-9 in the tournament's top thriller to date. Santana beat Marty Riessen 10-8, 6-1, 6-3.

Historic Night In AL

Twins Consolidate Position In League

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

For Minnesota there's consolation, for New York there's elimination and for Bert Campaneris there's frustration.

That was the linescore following an historic night in the American League Wednesday. The Minnesota Twins consolidated their position at the top of the league, driving back the rushing Chicago White Sox 3-2 and increasing their lead to six games.

The Yankees, meanwhile, edged Washington 6-5 but still were eliminated from pennant contention in this, their worst season in 40 years.

Then there was Campaneris. The versatile Kansas City youngster became the first player in modern major league history to play all nine positions in one game, but his play at two of them helped lead to the Athletics 5-3, 13-inning loss to California.

Not only that, Campaneris, who played a different position in each of the first nine innings, wasn't around at the finish. He left after the ninth with a shoulder injury.

The 23-year-old Cuban, who once pitched both right-handed and left-handed, started the game at shortstop. In succeeding innings he moved to second base, third base, left field, center field, right field, first base, pitcher and catcher.

Athletics' owner Charles O. Finley, who conceived the idea, even made Campaneris a $1 million player for the night. That's how much he insured him for — taking out the policy

Versailles Is Guided By A New Coach

Coach Ivan E. Worley, a graduate of Pittsburg State, in Kansas, starts his first season as head football mentor of the Versailles (Morgan County R-II High School) Tigers Friday.

With his goals set, Worley, in summarizing Versailles' chances this season, said, "We'll be there from the opening kick-off to the final whistle in every game."

Versailles, in last season's effort, established a 4-3-2 record. The Tigers can count on seven returning lettermen this season and the biggest of them is Charlie Brotherton, a 215-pound senior center.

The Tigers, who admittedly are weak in their reserve strength this season, will field a backfield averaging at 155 pounds, while the line comes in at 180.

Of the returning lettermen on the Tiger squad this season, three are juniors. Of these, tackle Roger Wittrock tips the scales at 195 pounds and will be relied on heavily by Worley.

Returning starters on the Tiger squad include Gary Marriott, guard, 180, senior; Charlie Brotherton, center, 215, senior; Lee Williams, end, 160, senior; and Ray Forest, quarterback, 160, senior. Other returning lettermen: Tommy Kott, fullback, 170, junior; Roger Wittrock, tackle, 195, junior; Clyde Marriott, back, 150, junior; Ken Holland, guard, 170, senior; Gary Wornell, halfback, 160, senior.

Versailles is affiliated with the Tri-County conference. Friday will mark the opening date of the 1965 football season in Missouri. About 300 teams will kick-off that day. Practice sessions started around Aug. 15. Regulations established by the Missouri State High School Activities Association require that a player have at least 15 days of practice prior to opening day. Dates for the first practice session and the first game were established earlier in the year by a vote of the schools that are members of MSHSAA.

Mint New Coin

LONDON (AP) — Baroness Spencer-Churchill has minted the first coin bearing a portrait of her late husband, Sir Winston Churchill.

She started a motor Wednesday at the Royal Mint to turn out the first five-shilling piece, worth about 70 cents. It is the first British coin to bear the likeness of a commoner in addition to that of the sovereign.

with four different companies at an undisclosed cost.

Campaneris, however, wasn't insured against errors and wildness. The error came in the sixth inning while he was playing right field. With two out and Albie Pearson at first base, Jim Fregosi lofted a fly to right-center.

Campaneris got under the fly, but the ball bounced out of his glove, allowing Pearson to score the run that broke a 1-1 tie.

Then, as a pitcher in the eighth, Campaneris walked two men on eight straight balls, then threw two more balls to Joe Adcock before he singled for another run.

Finally, there was his ninth-inning job — catching. Ed Kirkpatrick stole second on him, but Campaneris nailed him at the plate when he tried to steal home. Kirkpatrick knocked Campaneris over, and a brief tussle ensued. It was on that play that the all-around Athletic hurt his left shoulder.

In other AL games, Baltimore defeated Detroit 2-0 before having its eight-game winning streak stopped 5-0 and Boston trimmed Cleveland 5-3 in 10 innings.

Jim Grant stopped the White Sox on four hits for his 18th victory against five defeats while Jimmie Hall provided Minnesota's winning margin with a two-run homer in the seventh inning, his first since Aug. 2.

The Yankees, who had won a record-tying five straight pennants, went down fighting. Elston Howard's run-scoring single with two out in the ninth won it for the Yankees, who also got a three-run homer from Ray Barker in the fifth. Willie Kirkland, Don Lock and Ken McMullen homered for Washington.

The Angels finally downed Kansas City with two runs in the 13th, Bobby Knoop scoring the tie-breaker on pitcher John O'Donoghue's two-base throwing error. The Athletics tied the game in the ninth on run-scoring singles by Ken Harrelson and Dick Green.

Baltimore's Bob Johnson hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning of the first game, giving Steve Barber his 13th victory. The hit was only the fourth off Detroit's Hank Aguirre.

Dave Wickersham pitched the Tigers to the second-game triumph, limiting the third-place Orioles to three hits. Don Wert provided a three-run homer in the sixth.

Fred Whitfield's two-run homer in the ninth inning pulled Cleveland into a 3-3 tie, but Boston won in the 10th as Tony Horton socked a two-run homer.

Anniversary Observance Is Set For Today

The Headwaters Association of the Lake of the Ozarks marks its tenth anniversary with its annual membership meeting today, to be held at the Warsaw Community Building, starting at 6:30 p. m. Members and the general public are invited to attend.

The Headwaters Association was organized on April 11, 1955, with the express purpose of promoting the upper area of the Lake of the Ozarks. Soon after its inception, the organization published its first Headwaters map, issuing over 25,000 copies in its first year. That total has grown to 100,000 this year.

In 1955, the association started promoting the Kaysinger Dam project and ten years later the project is becoming reality.

Campy Plays All 9 Spots But A's Still Lose, 5-3

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Campy Campaneris, whose blithe spirit on the base paths and brilliant fielding, has made him a stellar attraction of the last place A's, Wednesday night became the first ball player in major league history to perform at all nine positions in one game.

Although directly or indirectly responsible for two of the runs scored by the California Angels in a 13-inning, 5-3 victory over Kansas City, Campy acquitted himself with honor before a crowd of 21,576 fans.

Campy wound up his unprecedented inning-at-each of the nine positions being carried off to a hospital for precautionary x-rays. The Angels husky outfielder, Ed Kirkpatrick, bowled him over at home plate in an attempted double steal. Campy who was catching, held on to the ball, however, to record the third out of the inning.

It appeared at the time of the collision that the $1 million insurance policy A's owner Charles O. Finley had taken out on the little Cuban was of more than academic interest. But x-rays proved negative and Campy says he will be ready to go again today.

At bat, Campy, was less than sensational, but the A's provided him with considerable company until he was sidelined. However, he did score the first run for the A's and stole his 49th base of the year in the process.

He walked to open the A's half of the first inning, stole second and scored on a double by Ed Charles. In three other times at bat, he struck out once and was thrown out twice.

Position - by - position, this is how the versatile Campy fared:

1. He opened at shortstop his regular position and didn't get a chance at the ball.

2. Moved to second and received credit for an assist in a rundown.

3. Third base—No chance.

4. Left Field—Caught Jose Cardenal's fly ball.

5. Center — Caught Paul Schaal's fly ball.

6. Right field—Dropped a high wind-blown fly by Jim Fregosi for an error that scored the tie-breaking run.

7. First base—caught Schaal's infield pop-fly.

8. Pitcher — Retired Cardenal on a pop fly; walked Albie Pearson and Fregosi; gave up a run-scoring single to Joe Adcock; struck out Bobby Knoop, and Fregosi was thrown out trying to steal.

9. Catcher—Only chance came in the attempted double-steal and he tagged Kirkpatrick at the plate for the final out of the inning.

Manager Haywood Sullivan said "they really battled after they knocked Campy down." The A's rallied for two runs on four hits to send the game into extra innings tied at 3-all.

"It was a silly thing to do," Sullivan continued in reference to the collision. "Ball players don't forget those things. Kirkpatrick was out a mile and simply tried to run over Campy and knock the ball loose."

The A's "battle" fizzled in the 13th when reliever John O'Donoghue made two throwing errors trying to force a base-runner and instead allowed the winning run to score.

Campy's biggest moment apparently must have been his turn on the mound. On returning to the ball park from the hospital, his main concern was over his pitching.

"I was wild," he said. "My fast ball was taking off and going high. But I be ready to play tomorrow and like to do it all again."

Stew More Appropriate

O'Toole Fashions Four-Hit Game As Reds Crush Mets

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Luck of the Irish?

Not for Jim O'Toole. Irish stew would be more appropriate.

O'Toole, who's been in a stew most of his career and all of this season, fashioned a four-hitter Wednesday night as the Cincinnati Reds crushed the New York Mets and moved to within one-half game of the National League lead.

It was O'Toole's first complete game since opening day and only his second victory of the year, but then inexplicable things happen to a guy who in the past has been kicked by a horse and rapped in the face by a paddle-tennis racquet — at a Jewish Center.

A 17-game winner in 1964, O'Toole pitched well enough in spring training to earn the opening day assignment and went out and pitched a complete game against Milwaukee. But he lost. He went out time and again but was unable to win until June 16 when he was credited with the victory in a game against the Mets.

He hadn't won since when he took a 1-9 record and a 6.82 earned run average into Wednesday's game against the Mets — and in the first inning was hit on his pitching hand by a pitch thrown by Darrell Sutherland.

"Everything just seemed to go wrong for me this season — like when he hit me on the hand," said O'Toole. "I thought: Holy smoke, there it goes, and I just wondered if I'd be able to throw the baseball the next inning."

He was, and eventually marched off the mound with the organist playing "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" and the Reds in a tie with the idle Los Angeles Dodgers for second place, one-half game behind front-running San Francisco.

The Giants remained on top as Willie Mays hammered his 44th and 45th homer and drove in five runs in a 12-3 walloping of Houston. Fourth-place Milwaukee fell two games behind after a 6-5 loss to Philadelphia and fifth-place Pittsburgh remained four back with a 2-1 decision over St. Louis.

Mays hit a three-run homer in the second inning and connected with one man on in the eighth, lifting his career homer total to 498. Willie McCovey also homered for the Giants while Bob Bolin scattered nine Houston hits, bringing his record to 9-5 with his first complete game of the season.

Johnny Callison and Dick Stuart drove in five of the Phillies runs, Callison stroking a run-producing single in the third inning and a two-run single in the seventh while Stuart hit a two-run homer in the fourth. Joe Torre and Hank Aaron hit solo homers for the Braves.

Coach Devine said "it takes quite a bit of character for a player who had so much success on offense to take on the less glamorous duties of a defensive halfback."

"Roland leads by example—he doesn't say much. When he smacks into a ball carrier they respect him. He's a quiet leader."

The 6-foot-2, 205-pound native of Corpus Christi, Tex., admits his crunching, jarring tackles give him the most satisfaction. His most difficult play on defense is the drop-back pass with receiver cutting across the middle. He promises it won't be a weakness for long.

"I hope to get some spot duty on offense this fall," Roland said. He is a swift, shifty runner and a breakaway threat.

Roland led conference scorers with 78 points in 1962 and topped Missouri in rushing with 830 yards.

"I got into trouble that season, was suspended and didn't play in 1963," Roland said. "But I worked my way back and the best thing that happened to me was getting married in August last year."

"Last year I made the best grades I've ever made."

Halfback Charlie Brown, who runs at Roland's old spot, said "I've always admired Johnny, since I was in high school. You learn a lot just watching him. I can't help wondering what we'd do without him."

MU Scoring Ace Plays On Defense

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Missouri's Johnny Roland is a rarity in college football—the Big Eight scoring champion as a sophomore and a teeth-rattling defensive back as a junior and senior.

"I like playing defense now," Roland told Big Eight skywriters Wednesday. "Last year I was a little reluctant to switch to defense, but Coach Dan Devine told me I was needed most on defense."

After last season, Roland was a fourth round future draft choice of the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League and drafted by the New York Jets of the American Football League.

"They drafted me as a defensive back, and that's probably where I'd play, should I make it in pro ball," Roland said. "So it looks like switching to defense means I'll be more ready for pro ball."

Coach Devine said "it takes quite a bit of character for a player who had so much success on offense to take on the less glamorous duties of a defensive halfback."

Yankee Standbys May Vanish

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Johnny Keane will be back next year but the same cannot be said for certain about two other New York Yankee standbys — second baseman Bobby Richardson and shortstop Tony Kubek.

At Wednesday's signing ceremonies in which Keane was retained for the 1966 season, the 53-year-old pilot acknowledged his awareness of Kubek's and Richardson's intention to retire at the end of the current season.

He added, however, "I won't believe it until I see it."

Richardson and Kubek have told teammates they are at least considering retirement. Third baseman Clete Boyer, like Keane, admitted he had heard both express those sentiments. Again, like Keane, he believes they will change their mind.

"Kubek has been afflicted with injuries a good part of the time this year," explained Keane. "He's had a frustrating time. It's only natural for a fellow in that frame of mind to feel the way he does. But I think after a winter's rest he will feel differently about things."

"As for Richardson, I've heard a word or two about his desire to spend more time with his family. But I don't accept that as definite."

In any event, Keane isn't taking any chances. Just in case Kubek and Richardson are serious about retiring, Keane plans to groom a couple of youngsters as replacements. They are Roy White, a second baseman, and Bobby Murcer, a shortstop.

Accuracy Key For Golf Course

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Gary Player has the best World Series of Golf average at the Firestone Country Club, where he once remarked you could almost hear the rough growing.

The 7,165-yard, par-70 course has a prerequisite for accuracy and Player has averaged 71.4 strokes per round in 18 rounds at the club. This weekend he'll be one of a select foursome who will shoot 36 holes for a total purse of $77,500.

Jack Nicklaus, Masters' champ, has averaged 72 strokes a round at Firestone for 24 rounds. He is the favorite against Player. U.S. Open champ, Peter Thomson, British Open titlist and Dave Marr, PGA champ.

Marr and Thomson are newcomers to the World Series tourney, which Nicklaus has won twice in the last three years. The Series is only for winners of the four major tournaments.

Top series prize is $50,000, with $15,000 for second place money, $7,500 for third and $5,000 for fourth.

Nicklaus won in 1962 and 1963 but did not qualify last year and Tony Lema walked off with the title. It was in 1962 that Player, while waiting for a shot, said he was sure he could hear grass growing in the rough.

Play in the World Series will begin at 12 noon, EST, each day, including the practice round Friday. The final six holes on Saturday and Sunday will be televised (NBC) from 4 to 5:30 p.m., EST.

Approve Copper Bill

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Preliminary approval by the Chilean Senate early today virtually assured passage of a bill empowering President Eduardo Frei to partially nationalize more than $1 billion worth of U.S. copper holdings.

Frei's government will purchase 51 per cent of the stock of the Kennecott Company's Chilean subsidiary and 25 per cent of the stock of the subsidiaries of the Cerro and Anaconda companies. The companies also have agreed to an expansion program to make Chile the world's No. 11 producer by 1970.

News Analysis

Political Favor Exchange Between Johnson, Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appears to have traded Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen a rabbit for a horse in an exchange of political favors.

Johnson got the horse Wednesday when the Senate Judiciary Committee approved by a 14-2 vote a House-passed bill which would abolish over the next three years the 41-year-old national origins system of immigration.

From the President's viewpoint the horse may be somewhat spavined by a provision that would limit Western Hemisphere immigration to 120,000 individuals yearly. But otherwise Johnson is reported to believe the horse is satisfactorily sound.

Dirksen got what his best friends and ardent supporters hesitate to describe other than as a rabbit — a proposed constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment.

The Republican leader is credited with being a hard bargainer most of the time. His difficulty in this case was that he was in desperate straits to keep his proposal alive in the hope that he can inflate support for it on another day.

The Dirksen proposal would permit state voters to determine whether one house of their legislature should be apportioned on other than a population basis. This would nullify in part the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote decision.

The Republican leader once got the proposal before the Senate but couldn't get it adopted because support for it was eight votes short of the required two-thirds majority.

Starting all over again, Dirksen got a judiciary subcommittee to approve it. But he was up against an 8-8 tie vote by which the full committee previously had rejected the proposed amendment.

To change that lineup, the GOP leader moved in to block committee action on the immigration bill although he said he favored passage of the later measure.

Because Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Judiciary Committee opposes the immigration measure, Dirksen was in a position to get recognition from the chair to talk as long as he chose to balk a committee vote.

Nobody had to draw the President a picture to demonstrate to him what could happen. It was a time for trading and he obviously didn't think he was giving away too much.

Dirksen got his proposal approved by a 9-7 vote when Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., reluctantly broke the deadlock. Dodd explained he did this only because if he didn't, the immigration measure would have been "seriously jeopardized."

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., said the committee had been "blackmailed" and had

Dobbs Says Optimism Is Required

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs, whose football team has been dealt a treacherous blow by injuries, isn't about to throw in the towel.

"I have to be optimistic," Dobbs said. "I just don't see how I can get the boys ready to play if I'm constantly harping on our bad luck. I teach them that injuries occur and somebody else just has to get up and go."

The Hurricane, which meets Houston in a nationally televised game Saturday from Houston's Astrodome, has had only one full-scale scrimmage since beginning practice because of the deluge of injuries.

Two players, No. 1 defensive end Dan Pavlak and safety Jimmy Hall, are definitely out for the season. Pavlak underwent knee surgery and Hall had shoulder surgery. Both were hurt since practice started.

Two others, reserve quarterback Glenn Dobbs III and starting wingback Brent Roberts, had knee surgery last week. Dobbs said they might be able to play by mid-season.

Off-season knee operations that failed to heal properly have delayed the return to action of first-string tailback Bob Daugherty, credited by Dobbs last season with supplying the running threat that made Tulsa's passing attack dangerous, and fullback Jim Brown, who had been considered a good bet to start.

Too Busy To Say How Busy They Are

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The phone company was so busy Wednesday with Hurricane Betsy it was too busy to say how busy it was.

A newsman called repeatedly to ask if switchboards were being overloaded with calls. All he could get was a busy signal.

been "forced to pay the ransom."

While Dirksen kept his proposal alive by getting it on the calendar, he had to promise in advance not to bring it up until next year.

By that time so many state legislatures will have been reapportioned on a population basis that few of them seem likely to have much interest in ratifying a constitutional amendment on the question, even if it were sent to them by Congress.

The requirement of two-thirds approval of both houses and ratification by three-fourths of the state legislatures thus presented a formidable barrier Dirksen will have to figure out how to surmount.

Redskins Early For Hall Of Fame Encounter

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The Washington Redskins, limping at key positions, have arrived early for their National Football Hall of Fame game against the Detroit Lions Sunday.

The game caps a weekend program during which seven former football greats will be inducted in the pro football shrine.

Coach Bill McPeak's Redskins pulled in Wednesday, with fullback Charley Taylor slowly recovering from a chipped right ankle, quarterback Sonny Jurgensen with a pulled groin muscle and end Angelo Coia with a pulled muscle.

About 17,000 fans are expected to attend the game, which provides revenue to operate the Hall of Fame. More than 129,000 persons have visited the football shrine since it was opened Sept. 9, 1963.

Willie Mays Nears 500 Homer Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays is on the verge of joining the exclusive 500-homer club with its membership of four, yet the San Francisco Giants' star center fielder's prime interest remains the hot pennant race in the National League.

Willie belted his 44th and 45th homers of the season Wednesday, driving in five runs as the Giants bombarded Houston 12-3 and retained the league lead they won Tuesday night at Los Angeles.

That made it 498 for Willie since he broke in with the Giants in New York back in 1951. Only Babe Ruth with 714, Jimmy Foxx, 534; Ted Williams, 521, and Mel Ott, 511, are over the 500 mark.

Ott holds the National League leadership, which Mays seems sure to top.

"These last 25 games are going to be real tough," said Mays, looking forward to the stretch drive.

He said he felt physically strong, but said he would need a little rest along the way.

"I think I can do the club better when I get a day off," he explained.

Manager Herman Franks has been giving the 34-year-old star periodic rests this season.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE MAJOR HOOPLE

New Season Looms Ahead On Networks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television's new season looms ahead, but before the summer season disappears Saturday night, a look backward seems in order.

With few exceptions, the network hot weather fare offered little stimulating entertainment. CBS' "Secret Agent," a British import in the tongue-in-cheek James Bond manner, proved a rollicking adventure series.

Art Linkletter's Hollywood edition of old "Talent Scouts" — also on CBS — presented some new young talent and ran at a relaxed pace, while Carl Reiner's "Celebrity Game" proved an oasis in a desert of reruns.

Most disappointing show of the summer was CBS' highly touted "It's What's Happening, Baby," the musical variety program that was supposed to inspire school dropouts to drop in again.

The principal disaster of the period was the appearance of Frank Sinatra, along with Sammy Davis Jr. on NBC's "Tonight Show" while Joey Bishop was taking over the host chores. The inside jokes which few in the audience understood, Davis' wild foot-stomping at Sinatra's mildest stab at humor, plus rudeness shown nervous guest Sally Ann Howes made for embarrassed and boring viewing.

CBS' "Vacation Playhouse" was one of those collections of pilot films that, for the most part, demonstrated why they never found buyers. One exception seemed to be "Acres and Pains," which, with assists by Walter Matthau and Anne Jackson, showed considerable comedy promise.

If the audience reactions this summer demonstrated anything, it was that it appreciates fresh shows. "Peyton Place" not only held its popular position in the ratings, but its added weekly episode immediately jumped into Nielsen's list of top 10 shows.

First Integrated Hospital To Close

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The first hospital in Kansas City to be fully integrated will close Dec. 31, partly as a result of the success of its 10 year pioneering project.

The Maryknoll Sisters of St. Dominic, a Catholic missionary order, which operates Queen of the World Hospital, said that nearly all other hospitals in the area have now granted admitting privileges to Negro doctors on Queens of the World staff.

This coupled with the spread of voluntary health insurance has caused Negro patients to shift to larger hospitals with more modern facilities, a spokesman for the order said.

As a result bed occupancy at the hospital has dropped to about 60 per cent of capacity in recent years, with 85 per cent needed to break even.

In addition caring for a higher percentage of non-insured patients put a greater financial load on the hospital.

How They Voted On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House vote of 239-143 Wednesday for the foreign aid appropriation bill included the following:

For the bill—Bolling, Karsten and Sullivan, Missouri; Albert and Edmondson, Oklahoma; all Democrats.

Against — Hull, Ichord and Randall, Missouri; Jarman and Johnson, Oklahoma, all Democrats; and all Republicans from Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Recorded for the bill but not actually voting was Hungate, D-Mo.

Truman-Moser Wedding Vows Said At St. Mary's Church, Aug. 14

Miss Rita Marie Truman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Truman, Independence, was united in marriage to Mr. Carl David Moser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Moser, 621 West Seventh, at a quarter past eleven o'clock Saturday, Aug. 14, at St. Mary's Church, Independence. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Martin Froeschl.

Mass servers were Mr. Gilbert H. Truman, brother of the bride, and Mr. Michael Higbee, cousin of the bride.

Soloist was Mr. James Hagan and organist was Mrs. Edith Pritchett.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore an off white gown of bouquet taffeta and Chantilly lace. The gown was designed as a princess dome. The bodice of champagne lace had elbow sleeves and an oval neckline. A redingote effect was achieved with wrap-arounds of the lace, bordered with the bouquet taffeta. Her veil of illusion was held by a pillbox of matching lace. She carried a cascade of white orchids.

Maid of honor, Miss Loretta Ann Truman, sister of the bride, was attired in a long gown of maize crepe with a moss green satin inset accenting the Empire line of the bodice and a large moss green picture hat. She carried a ballerina arrangement of yellow roses, moss green tulle and leaves.

Bridesmaids, Miss Kathy Diab and Miss Ellen Harte, were dressed like the honor attendant. They carried similar bouquets of yellow roses.

Mr. Thomas Moser, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsman were Mr. David Taggart and Mr. John Ross Truman, the latter, brother of the bride. Ushers were Mr. Francis Moser, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Joseph P. Gracey.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at St. Mary's Hall for the newlyweds. Attending the bride's book was Miss Jean Ellen Truman, sister of the bride. At the punch and cake table were: Miss Betty Dean and Miss Judy Ozias, Marshall.

A formal buffet luncheon for relatives and out of town guests was held at the home of the bride following the reception.

The couple is at home in Sedalia, where Mrs. Moser will teach. Mr. Moser is studying for his master's degree at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Moser, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brune, Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moser and daughters, Kim and Jeanne, Mobile, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Higgins, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hawkins, Whiteman Air Force Base; Mrs. Elizabeth Schulz, Germany; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hoelscher, Jefferson City; Andrew Berendzen, Henley; Mrs. Bernadine Willabrand, Glasgow.

Statements That Retired Men Get Tired of Hearing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) —Remarks of a retired man gets tired of hearing:

"Gee, how I envy you—nothing to do the rest of your life but take it easy."

"Having a husband under my feet all day long makes me nervous. Sometimes I wish you were still on the job."

"Remember, you're not a kid any more."

"Herman, you're not doing anything—so why don't you go to the grocery store for me this morning? Here's the list."

"I don't see why you have to lose your temper. All I said was you'd better move your rocking chair because you are wearing a rut in the front porch."

"Won't you ever learn to act your age?"

"What really makes him fume is that not one person from the office has called to ask his advice since he left."

"Don't forget now, when he comes in tell him how young he's looking. He likes to be flattered that way."

"Herman, you retired too soon. The rumor around the office is that the boss is going to start giving a big annual Christmas bonus this year."

"Grandpa, you know Abraham Lincoln and George Washington real well, didn't you? What were they really like?"

"That gold watch they gave you is on the blink again. Do you think it's worth bothering to have it fixed?"

"What you need is a good constructive hobby to help pass the time—something like stamp collecting or bird watching."

"Well, Herman, I guess you were about the nearest thing there is to the indispensable man. They couldn't find one machine to do your work, so they've divided it between two machines."

"Don't tell me you're going to waste another afternoon watching a baseball game on television. For the life of me, I can't see what you see in them. They all look alike to me."

"Dad, you're not doing anything. Why don't you come over and take care of your grandkids while Myrtle and I spend the day at the races?"

"Mind you, I'm not complaining, dear, but if we had just half the money you frittered away on cigars the last 40 years, we'd have our own little place down in Florida instead of having to live in this grubby little apartment."

"Wake up, Herman. If you take too long a nap now, you won't be able to get a wink of sleep tonight."

"You know I'd be glad to cook it for you—but the doctor says you shouldn't eat it."

"Gosh, Herman, this is your first visit back to the office since you left, isn't it? You have no idea how much we miss you. I know the boss would love to see you, but right now he's tied up in a terribly important conference. I'll tell him you were here."

'Dolly 3' Rehearsals Under Way

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gower Champion felt a faint air of nostalgia as he began rehearsals for what he calls "Dolly 3" — the third company of his smash musical "Hello, Dolly."

He was putting the show together at the Figueroa Playhouse in downtown Los Angeles — the theater where he made his dancing debut as a lad of 15.

But Gower had scant time for remembrance of things past. He was faced with drilling an entirely new cast — except for star Carol Channing — in the intricate and energy-demanding show. He is a stickler for precision, down to the last entree.

At the lunch break, he walked across the street for a calorie-providing lunch of deviled egg sandwich and chocolate malt. Despite such a diet, he remains as trim as when he glided through those MGM musicals with his wife Marge. Something new has been added: a luxuriant Van Dyke beard and mustache. "Grew it on our vacation in the Greek isles last May; it's temporary," he explained.

Gower directed and choreographed Broadway hits before, but nothing of the immensity of "Hello, Dolly!" The show has been a sell-out for all of its 85 weeks in New York, and the road company with Mary Martin has racked up record grosses of over $100,000 per week everywhere it has played.

Gower won't be through with "Hello, Dolly" when the third company opens here next Tuesday.

"I'll stage 'Dolly 4' in London this December," he reported, "and that will be the last for me."

ST. LAURENT, DIOR, CARDIN: Litex-Nattier tweed of wool and Antron in gray and white is used in St. Laurent suit (left). Jacket is short, shoulders broader and padded. Skirt is gathered for front fullness. Partridge feather jacket (center) by Marc Bohan for Dior is in a Malhia tweed of orlon and mohair in gray. Dress, skirt and jacket are in matching tweed. The costume is from one of Bohan's most important groups for fall, the barrel jacket worn over a two-piece suit. Mosaic patterns inspired the group of beaded dresses created by Pierre Cardin. Simple shift (right) is in shocking pink paillettes dotted with black sequins.
